Officials Convinced Soviets Preparing Another Series

WASHINGTON (AP) - Thousands of men and scores of ships of U.S. Task Force 8 sped preparations today for the start this week of American nuclear tests in the air over the Pacific. Some officials said the first blast could come within 48 hours.

As the United States was getting set to conduct its first nuclear weapons test in the atmosphere since 1958, officials said they were convinced the Soviet Union was getting ready to fire off another series of its own. Last fall the U.S.S.R. set off about 50

Indications are there will be perhaps three dozen U.S. tests in the next two or three months, all above the earth's surface and some probably hundreds of miles

Speculation on possible fields of U.S. testing has centered on missiles armed with warheads, the effects of nuclear blasts on radar and communications, the effects a nuclear explosion might have on an enemy nuclear warhead, and research on a neutron bomb-a device which theorists say could destroy life without demolishing

Irony In Two Arms Plans

The unveiling of details of the new U.S. rather than closer to agreement. disarmament proposal at the same time the latest record-setting military budget probably was a coincidence. But it presents an irony symbolic of the world's woes.

Each succeeding year's military budget is a peacetime record-setter. As one obscure step. taxpayer commented, it won't be long before the peacetime budgets will be breaking even wartime records.

chamber pretty well represents the taxpayers' consenous. Nothing is more important than our military posture in the dreary cold war. The parochial fights between the services and the assorted government agencies over details of military spending leave the citizenry cold; its chief interest lies in feel-

BUT THAT doesn't erase the fact that disarmament, if it really could happen, is devoutly to be wished. What a relief for the taxpayer and boon for mankind it would be if each succeeding military budget did not have to be a record-setter!

Few people allow themselves the luxury of dwelling on this dream because it seems so impractical. What chance is there that disarmament really will happen? Not much.

It's been talked about almost continuously since World War II ended. Except for the growing fear - presumably on both sides - that global diaster might be touched off accidentally or temperamentally, the negotiators seem to have moved farther apart systems.

The new U.S. plan represents an effort House gave unanimous approval to the to be as realistic as possible in the dreamworld of disarmament. It proposes a stepby-step procedure bound by no time limits, with each step's inauguration dependent upon successful completion of the preceding

It seeks to concentrate disarmament efferts on those weapons which threaten global-type destruction while maintaining the Still, the unanimous vote in the House present balance of power in traditional weapons of more restricted scope.

The zone-type inspection system it proposes seems to contain some loopholes for cheaters to slip through, but its authors assert it still contain: built-in safeguard They apparently are right, for Soviet Delegate Zorin flatly rejected it as unacceptable.

THIS IS where disarmament negotiations always come to a halt. This is where, indeed, they must come to a halt. Recordbreaking military budgets are more trustworthy and desirable than a disarmament plan without effective barriers against

It is ironic that the U.S. proposed a disarmament plan that would do away with some of the weapons authorized by the new military budget bill but not yet even built,

But the irony is only superficial. The fact is the new military budget bill carries a lot more real weight than the new disarmament proposal — as long as the Russians continue to reject effective inspection the West have redefected to Moscow - with considerable propaganda fanfare - sparks some intriguing thoughts on the fine points of waging cold war.

Can a Defection Be Staged?

If their story to a Russian news conference can be taken at face value, they became disillusioned with Western life when U.S. intelligence agents kept them under wraps and hounded them for information about goings-on behind the Iron Curtain.

This strikes us pretty much the way the 1960 U-2 affair did: There is a sense of security to be derived from knowing our undercover men are on the job.

If our agents failed to make every effort (1) to ascertain the sincerity of apparent defectors and (2) to learn what they could of Soviet activity, we would need a new set of agents.

BUT DWELL for a moment on the possibility that the redefectors' stories cannot be taken at face value. Suppose something other than the dedication to duty of U.S. agents motivated their return to their native land.

One very simple explanation might be homesickness, especially in the case of the home. This is a common human reaction

The report that two Soviet defectors to to strange places, albeit they once looked like greener pastures.

Now if a man left Soviet society in a well publicized defection and decided later he wanted to return, what would be more logical than to try to get back into the good graces of his Russian rules by claiming he had been mistreated by U.S. agents and that he had found Russian life to be

THE REALLY intriguing thought we had on the whole affair, however, was that it might have been staged from the beginning to climax as it did. This would be a real twisteroo on the defection problem the Communists constantly face.

Since the propagandized news conference with the redefectors was obviously intended primarily for home consumption, might not this be a way of telling folks behind the Iron Curtain they were in for some tough treatment by the United States if they defected to the West?

This idea seems supported by the charge that the redefectors were "brainwashed" by the U.S. agents who held them captive. This kind of twisteroo is a common Red tactic.

Maybe the idea is too fantastic to have actually happened. But some mighty fantasdefector whose wife left him to go back tic things have occurred in these long years

And the real story is in the answer to a three-part question: Why did U. S. Steel's real policy makers do what they did as they did and when they did and thus unleash the biggest domestic power play in recent history? As the big steel people tell it to each other - in person, for they are staying off the phones - U.S. Steel chief Roger Blough believed he would see President Kennedy at 3 o'clock that "terrible" Tuesday. A private U. S. Steel plane was standing by to fly Blough to Washington from New York. But the White House schedule was reshuffled by the need to make way for the arrival of the Shah mighty important in the world's balance of power.

THE PRESIDENTIAL appointment was shifted to 5:45 p.m. What everybody in steel's tower suite forgot - or ignored - was the fact that the entire public relations machinery was geared to a 6 o'clock release of the price increase news story.

Blough had just about gotten into the President's office and into the how are you, Mr. President, and the weather is dreadful first conversation stage when an aide to Mr. Kennedy slipped in. He

It is not easy to get behind the passed on the news that the price even point shortly, after which story was already on the news

"Here Boy!"

After that interview was over, the President asked some of his top aides - almost in Harry Truman language - why no one had gotten a commitment from the real powers inside steel on a price freeze - a commitment in writing or orally.

Then the President declared political war - believing it had been declared on him first. Just why the steel executives reckoned that a three-hour warning would have assuaged John Kennedy, no one except the men in the U. S. Steel's live - man finance committee (headed by the influential but little known Robert C. Tyson)

Traditionally the steel companies have floated rumors on price increases for months before they upped the steel list prices. Or the companies as in the past have quietly increased the price "extras" which make up a roster longer than a sheik's shopping list. That's where the gravy is - and these increases need not be announced. Extras are steel orders specially cut, specially shipped or specially "wrapped," etc.

OBVIOUSLY Big Steel wanted to take Arthur Goldberg and the other economic advisors head on. So they also got the President in on the act. But why at this time?

Here the steel people say they were at the peril point. They assert that steel production was on its way down - sharply. At this writing, steel is down to just under 71 per cent of capacity from just under 80 per cent. And it's still going down. The financial and production wizards projected the trend and saw themselves hitting the break-

By Victor Riesel

Once they reach that line - and go into the red - they can not raise prices. One doesn't do that in a period of falling sales. You try to lower prices to get people to buy more.

So they reasoned the time for increases was now so they would not look silly later. Increased prices would stall the red line so much longer. That's how they reasoned. That's what they decided.

SO NOW we have the political war. But this will serve no purpose. The men of steel have been hammered down. Now the problem is how to bring all forces together in view of the following:

Today the average wage and fringe cost of an American steel worker per hour is $4.12. When the new contracts take effect, this rise to $4.11. Compare this with the wage and fringe cost of German steel workers per hourabout $1.32.

Then compare our figure with that of Japan - which last year was 57 cents an hour and this year will hit about 60 cents.

And the Japanese and Germans and French and Belgians are making fine steel. The Tokho people, according to the Fuji Bank reports, soon enough will have a surplus of several million tons to dump into the United States. So will the United States of Europe, which some people call the Common Market.

We should help our allies. But we should help ourselves first. Instead of a home-front war, all our forces - labor, industry and government-should make peace and work things out so there are work

Presidential News Conference One-Sided

Presentation of presidential news conferences by television, with only one side being given to the same audience, can result in a misguided elector-President Kennedy, of course. man who would knowingly mislead the people but he is inexperienc-David Lawrence ed in business and depends on what some of his advisers-also unfamiliar with industrial operations-tell him about complicated economic questions.

The result can be a misstatement of the facts of economic

Today, for instance, many economists are stunned by Mr. Kennedy's erroneous statements at his press conference Wednesday. He was asked by a reporter whether he felt that gains made through efficiency and lower costs achieved by modernized plant and equipment-frequently called productivity"-should be shared by investors as well as labor. The President replied:

"The owners of steel stocks have shared very much in the last 10 years. I don't think there is any question. I think there has been a split of six times in the United States Steel stocks since '48-'49, and they have been paid a very good dividend, and they have very strong equity. And what is true of U.S. Steel is true, even in greater extent, in other steel companies, and, as I have said, in industry in general. So that I think the shareholders will do very well."

Also, earlier in the same pressconference, in his prepared statement, Mr. Kennedy said: "I believe that the anticipated profits this year for industry in general, and setel in particular, indicate that these policies are meeting with some measure of success, and it's a fact that the last quarter of last year, and I think the first quarter of this year, will be the highest profits in the history of this country. and the highest number of people working, and the highest produc-

Now what are the facts? In the first place, steel profits still were low in the last quarter of 1961, and will hardly approach previous records in the first quarter of 1961 but the average person will derive from the President's remarks the impression at the current level for the total that steel profits have h ing steadily to the highest point in their history.

As for the "highest profits" in industry in general, Mr. Kennedy didn't tell the American people the whole story.

Numerically, there are, for instance, more people employed today in the United States than ever before. How does that help, however, the more than four milkion who are unemployed?

SOME BUSINESSES, to be sure, are prospering, but steelthe center of last week's controversy-isn't prospering. But, even on corporate profits for all industries, the President gave a figure that will be disputed.

Actually, as he says, corporate profits as a whole for the final quarter of 1961 were a recordat the rate of $52.4 billion before taxes, or about $1 billion higher than the previous record. But figured in relation to gross national product—as it properly should be to get a real comparison-the profits were only 9.7 per cent, as contrasted with 16.2 per cent 10 years ago. This means they have declined by 40 per cent in the past decade.

The average of all profits for the nation last year was 8.8 per cent of gross national product, which was the lowest since World War II with the exception of the 8.4 per cent in the recession year of 1954.

The 15-year average (1946-1960) was 10.8 per cent, which is two full points, or approximately 23 per cent, above 1961.

The same people who heard President Kennedy's glib presentation on television will not get

AS TO WHETHER the investors have shared in the productivity formula, the President's comment is also misleading. The profits of the primary iron and steel industry-according to Security and Exchange Commission reports-were at 4.58 per cent of sales in 1961. But the 1947-60 average was 6.14 per cent, or 34 per cent above 1961.

Now, as to the splitting of the stock of U.S. Steel, Mr. Kennedy neglected to point out that, if anyone bought one share of U.S. Steel stock in 1959 at the market price of $108, he now has a stock worth about $64 and has lost 40 per cent of his investment. He has gained nothing at all out of the productivity formula.

Perhaps the most confusing comment was the President's statement that "if you could get the capacity of steel up to 83 or 90 per cent, you would have a $500 million increase in their profits at present prices.'

Mr. Kennedy got mixed up between production and capacity. The capacity of the steel mills is relatively unchanged but the proportion of total capacity actually used by the industry isn't going to get up to 85 or 90 per

Also, if prices are maintained being forecast for 1962, the steel companies will have a decrease in profits per ton in the remainder of the year due to the heavier expenses they now face.

So the truth is the steel stockholders in recent years have not shared in the productivity gains at all, while labor-which has had three wage increases in four years-has gotten virtually all of the productivity benefits. Yet this isn't what the President told the American people in his public statements to the press and over radio and television.

A Look At the Record

With all the charges and countercharges regarding the steel dispute, let us just set down and as Al Smith used to say, "Look at the record".

After price and wage controls were ended in 1945-46, prices were raised on virtually all commodities. This, at that time, was based on the law of supply and demand. Wages remained the same. As a result, labor wanted a raise to catch up. After this was done prices were raised again and the same conditions existed as before. This continued under both Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. Apparently business had gained that one raise and has been determined to hold it.

We have had quite a few periods of boom and recession since and our gold reserves are becoming increasingly smaller to the detriment of our economy. Something had to be done and where the former presidents apparently lacked the nerve to take action. President Kennedy had the nerve to try to get the economy back on an even keel.

One other point ties in with this subject. It seems to be the common practice to lay all the cost of production on labor. I urge everyone to try to get the actual cost of labor per unit produced today and compare it with cost per unit produced in 1946. I also suggest that those who are fortunate enough to have had stock in such companies as U. S.

The session was held while there were still sounds of cannonading in words. Kefauver's Cavalry was still making raids and Bobby's Zouvaes were continuing battle.

"Let us have peace," said President Kennedy. "The country can use it," admitted Mr. Blough, who wore a broken scabbard with no sword and seemed dazed by recent heavy shelling.

"I have one great hope," he added. "What is that?" asked JFK. "That today my sense of timing is better." "We all make mistakes," smiled the President, nervously fingering his war map, "but some of us make our errors look better than others."

"I assume your desire for peace is genuine," said JFK. "The hope is mutual," sighed Mr. Blough, careful not to raise his voice. "Keep this surrender useful." replied the President, with a smile agreed upon by Secretary Goldberg and other associates. Hoofbeats and rifle fire were heard at this point. It was discovered they came from Congressional Rangers who refused to admit the fighting had ended. When told that

Kansas City Taks Pair From Chicago

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer Who said Yankee Stadium is a graveyard for Cleveland managers? Mel McGaha must think the old hoodoo was just a paper tiger.

It was 21/2 years and three managers ago that the Indians last won a doubleheader in the Bronx until McGaha brought the 1962 Cleveland club to town. In fact, they hadn't won a single game here since May 12, 1960 in the last days of the reign of Joe Gordon.

The Indians didn't win only a doubleheader. They vaulted all the way into the American League lead by 25 percentage points over Baltimore. They shot the New York Yankees' vaunted pitching staff full of holes, collecting a total of 28 hits while winning two 7-5 and 9-3.

While the Cleveland club was enjoying the fine Easter weather in New York, Norm Cash continued on his home run binge at Boston. The Detroit first baseman now has six homers in eight games. At that rate he could wind up with a 120 for the 162-game season. Cash hit his two during an 8-6 Tiger victory.

Even Hank Bauer must have been amazed at his Kansas City A's who swept an entire fourgame series at Chicago by taking a Sunday doubleheader 7-1 and 7-5. In the weekend series, 18 Chicago pitchers were battered for 30 runs and 49 hits, including six

LEGAL NOTICE Case No. 47595 J. S. Gleason, Jr., Successor in Office to Sumner G. Whittier, as Administrator of Vet-erans Affairs, vs. James W. Hamil-

on, et al. James W. Hamilton, whose place ton, et al.

James W. Hamilton, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on February 1, 1962, the undersigned, J. S. Gleason, Jr., Successor in Office to Sumner G. Whittier, as Administrator of Veterans Administration, filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, alleging that there is due the plaintiff the sum of $14,155.50 with interest at 514% from October 30, 1961, on a promissory note secured by a mortgage deed of even date conveying the following described property, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Salem, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub Lot No. 132 in Southeast Boulevard Allotment Section 4, a Subdivision of a part of Original Perry Township Section No. 5, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Volume 5 of Maps, Page 77 of Columbiana County Records.

Said Sub Lot No. 132 has a frontage of 60 feet on the southerly side of Whinnery Road and extends back between parallel lines 145 feet on the easterly side, 145 feet on the westerly side and has a rear line of 60 feet, as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition further alleges that by reason of the default of the defendant obligors in the payment of said note according to its tenor, the conditions of said mortgage deed has been broken and the same has become absolute.
